General Trust Provisions by Article

Article One (Declaration of Trust)

This Trust is revocable and I can alter, amend, revoke or terminate it as specifically provided for in Article Two.

Article Two (Lifetime Trust)

The income and principal beneficiaries of the Lifetime Trust created in the Trust are as follows:

Name or Class	Relationship
JEANIE RUTH TYLER	Settlor

The principal beneficiary(ies) of the Lifetime Trust created in the Trust shall be the Residuary Trust Principal Beneficiary(ies) as set forth in Article Four.

No payment or distribution of the principal of the Trust shall be made to Settlor or for the benefit of the Settlor or on behalf of the Settlor, including but not limited to my legal obligations.

Article Three (Administrative Trust):

The Trustee is authorized, but not directed, to pay the following:

- A. expenses of my burial or cremation, memorials, and funeral services of such kind as the Trustee in its sole, absolute and unreviewable discretion shall approve. In exercising its discretion, the Trustee may be guided, but not controlled, by any instructions for my final arrangements I may have provided;
- B. expenses with regard to the administration of my estate; and
- C. federal estate tax, applicable state inheritance or estate taxes, or any other taxes occasioned by my death .

Article Four (Specific Distributions for Beneficiaries):

Your Trust contains a provision for one or more specific bequests, which will be distributed prior to any distributions to your Residuary Beneficiaries. Parties designated to received specific bequests are as follows:

KALLIE SCHILLING

The terms for distributions to each beneficiary will be addressed individually. Please refer to the Specific Distributions to Beneficiaries contained in Article Four for complete information.

Article Four (Residuary Distributions for Beneficiaries):

Subject to any special bequests set forth in the above-named Article, the Trustee shall administer the remaining Trust Property with all the power and authority granted under the Trust Agreement for the benefit of the Residuary Beneficiaries.

My Residuary Beneficiaries' names and shares are as follows:

Residuary Beneficiary Name	Relationship	Share
KALLIE SCHILLING	Jeanie's Friend	100%

The terms for distributions to each beneficiary will be addressed individually. Please refer to the Distributions to Beneficiaries contained in this Article for complete information.

Article Five (Under-Age Beneficiaries):

You have chosen to hold in trust, any bequest for the benefit of any contingent beneficiary or incidental beneficiary, and any bequest to a named beneficiary whose bequest is outright, if said beneficiary has not attained age eighteen (18).
